Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

There are many reasons why all Americans, whatever their party affiliation may be, should have a genuine liking for Wendell Willkie. In the first place he is one of the best American types. He began life on the bottom rung of the ladder and climbed up to the top, the very top if you like. He became the manager of a great corporation, it just happens that he headed, until he resigned shortly after his nomination to be the Republican candidate for President, one of the two or three larger utility corporations in the United States. That is a long ways from the young itinerant worker, who mined, picked vegetables, or herded catte, in a half dozen states in the west, among them California.

It was a long ladder to climb, but pluck, ability, and a well trained intelligent mind, accomplished it. No matter what the New Dealers may say of this accomplishment, it is the typical American way to success. The New Dealers are doing a mighty lot of yammering about Mr. Willkie's utility career, but to this writer's view, it has been a much more honorable business career than that of the President, who once headed a company which sold depreciated German marks to Americans who liked to gamble. This yelping of the Ickes pack on Mr. Willkie's trail is part and parcel of the New Deal's cult of hate for successful American enterprise in all fields of industry. The fact that President Roosevelt during his almost eight years in office has specially abused the utility business, makes the Ickes job of tarring now all the easier.

But of course, Willkie, is a special bete noir to the New Deal. He was the man who dared to stand up to the TVA, with its backing of the United States Treasury, and forced Lillienthal and his fellow board members to pay a fair price to the thousands of little stockholders in Commonwealth and Southern, for the Tennessee properties which the TVA proposed to take over on the same terms as those on which Hitler took over France. The New Deal really respects Willkie, but on the other hand they hate his innards.

Actually of course the Roosevelt view of Willkie is the American patrician viewpoint. Willkie, a poor boy of humble German parentage and ancestry, has never been a guest to voyage on the Vincent Astor's yacht, the Nourmahal. He has been too busy to hobnob with America's upper crust of aristocrats, even if he were invited. He was not born wealthy as was Mr. Roosevelt, and his knowledge of the "forgotten man" he got at first hand in his youth as a roustabout and field hand. He has no fancy, pink theories about unemployment. He knows from experience why men are thrown out of work, and he knows the practical answer to the unemployment problem. It is, simply, to give the business man a little of that security, which Mr. Roosevelt hands out so prodigally at everybody's expense to every ne'er-do-well and wastrel in the land.

Charles Michelson, the smearer chief of the New Deal, is now laying out his pots of vilifying mud for everything Republican and snowy whitewash for Boss Kelly of Chicago and Boss Hague of New Jersey, not to mention ex-con Pendergast of Kansas City. These gentry we may rest assured will suffer no further chastisement at the hands of Attorney General Jackson until the November election is safely passed. Nothing much is said about these auxiliary machines which are working tooth and toenail to bolster the U. S. Treasury backed machine, which seeks to perpetuate itself in office with the bold affrontery of one of the black and tan dictators in the Carribean.

Speaking of the third term, it is really a misnomer. Anyone who can smash the two- term limitation tradition of this country will set a precedent that can only lead to ultimate disaster. For if a President finds he can be elected to a third term, at the end of that time he will be so securely entrenched that even if he did not wish to remain in office, he could call up his cohorts of office holders, relief pensioners, and, given time enough for thorough organization, the army and the navy, to elect whomever he chose as his successor. F. Farmer Dies Here Suddenly

Funeral Services Tomorrow For Well Known Resident

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow at the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary in Grass Valley for Frank Albert Farmer, 79, well known Nevada Cityan, who passed away suddenly at his showplace Woodcrest home here late Tuesday.

Farmer had been ill for several months but Tuesday was able to walk around the house. His wife, Hattie, went into Nevada City Tuesday afternoon to do some shopping and when she returned she found her husband dead on the living room couch.

Had Showplace Home

Farmer was a ditch agent for the Nevada Irrigation District for 13 years. He had been a resident of this area for 28 years, coming here from Vermont, his birthplace. A lover of flowers and gardens, Farmer since his retirement and even before, worked continuously to make Woodcrest one of the most beautiful homes in the Nevada City district.

Rev. David Ralston of the Nevada City Methodist Episcopal Church will officiate at the funeral services. Interment will be in the Odd Fellows Cemetery here.

Farmer leaves, his wife, Hattie, to whom he had been married 53 years, a son, Douglas Farmer of Nevada City, two daughters, Mrs. Julius Streeter of Shelbourne Falls, Mass., and Mrs. Alec Guganie of Sutton, Mass., two sisters, Mrs. Rose Young of Turnersfall, Mass., and Mrs. Carl Williams of Dalton, Mass., and three brothers, Dennis Farmer of Michigan and George and Charles Farmer of Turnersfall.

PAUL ULLRICH AGAIN TO LEAD COUNTY G. O. P.

Paul Ullrich was re-elected chairman of the Republican County central committee Tuesday evening when the committee met in the court house. Ullrich has been chairman for the past four years. To his devotion, hard work, and enthusiasm members of the party attribute the fact that Republican candidates in this county, including Congressman Englebright, Senator Hiram Johnson, State Senator Jerry Seawell, and Assemlyman Allen G. Thurman have always received a big majority. To his work and those members of the committee who rallied behind him is also attributed the defeat two years ago in this county, of Governor Olson. Plans are maturing for a county wide campaign for Wendell Willkie.

Members of the Republican County Central committee consist of F. F. Cassidy, Robert Paine, and Myers Mobley of Nevada City, Paul Ullrich, Raymond Clinch, James Tyrrell, Frank Bennallack, Elton Williams and Stuart Chalmers of the Grass Valley district.

NEW ROAD SAVES TRAVELING TIME

The three mile new stretch of highway below Grass Valley on the Grass Valley-Auburn Highway has been completed, cutting off approximately 10 minutes of traveling time between the two communities.

H. T. Bigelow, highway maintenance superintendent of this district, said work has started on the placing of white center stripes on the newly constructed portion of the highway.

The new highway eliminates more than a dozen dangerous turns, including "Death Curve." Hemstreet and Bell had the contract on the road construction project.

Vanbergs Have Visitors—

Downieville Road Improving Will Be Finished In January

Work on improving the Downieville Highway between Nevada City and North San Juan is running on schedule with the project expected to be completed by January.

The job of improving 4,000 feet of the road from the North Fork of the Yuba River crossing up the Depot Hill grade toward Nevada City has been completed.

The work between here and San Juan is in charge of C. Irish, state highway engineer. Many of the dangerous curves are being widened and much realignment is being done. It was reported here traffic delays on the highway are few while the work is proceeding.

TOWN AROUSED BY ACTIONS OF ASSERTED FIEND

A posse of 200 men, led by Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen and Deputy Sheriffs Carl Larsen and Tom Dolley, combed Truckee and vicinity last night for a man about 25 years old who assertedly had evil designs against a six year old girl, whom he lured away from home.

The man escaped the net spread for him and is believed to have boarded a westbound freight train. Deputy Sheriff Fred Williford and half a dozen deputies attempted to intercept the suspect at Colfax but were unsuccessful.

According to officers, the man asked the six year old girl to help him find a ring he lost on the banks of Trout Creek in Truckee. The girl, unsuspecting, went with him. The man's actoins, however, aroused the suspicions of a neighboring woman and she notified her husband. When the husband started to investigate the suspect fled into the woods. The girl was not harmed.

The degenerate suspect was reported to have red hair and wearing green pants.

Truckee citizens were aroused immediately and at least 200 joined the search. Business houses were closed and merchants joined in the search.

Let's Face the Facts

By John T. Holden, in North Sacramento Journal

It looks as if the country has begun to recover from the era of hypnotized hallucinations through which it has been passing during the last ten years.

Sober common sense appears to be replacing propaganda incited hysteria, and sane thinking is replacing thoughtless acceptance as true of utterances of political mountebanks actuated by egotism and selfish theories.

There was no earthly reason in fact for the defeat of Herbert Hoover, really a man of the people, acclaimed by the entire civilized world as truly great, and working always for humanity. His downfall was due, not to any fault of his own, but to the lying propaganda begun in 1929 by a political cabal, whose motto was "smear" and whose sole ambition was to win an election by fair means or foul—chiefly the foulest of the foul.

There was no reason for the defeat of Landon after the miserable misgovernment that followed 1932, except the failure of his advisers to use the arguments provided by the administration.

There is still less reason for anticipation of the defeat of Mr. Willkie. He is young, virile, courageous, and not only has been a toiler himself but has been a creator of jobs for others.

This belief is fostered by the growing awakening of the best thought among leading Democrats, of the class that put their nation's well being first and pap from the political nurse bottle second, to the fact that they have been misled, misinformed, deceived as to the real needs of America and the proper methods of supplying those needs.

What this nation needs more today than anything else is a return to basic principles of respect for law, appreciation of the benefits of order, veneration of religion of whatever creed the individual espouses, and the sanctity of a promise.

For ten years these basic principles have been ignored in the breach. Lies about an opponent have been praiseworthy, orderly procedure by basic law has been flouted, platform promises have been broken before their ink was dry, and government by individual caprice or commission substituted for the statues.

The people are awakening. Even many of those who have grafted—perhaps unwittingly—off the earnings of others are becoming aroused to a realization they are on the wrong track. The sober, sane, far seeing, clear thinking element, that may be misled for a brief period but not permanently, is beginning to assert itself again, as it has in the past, and the prospects are bright for a revulsion of spirit against the foolish isms and worn out visionary theories that have plagued us for so long.

A virile, strong man has stepped into the lead. A new spirit of honesty and real care for the needy is abroad in the land.

Let every man who really wants a job, every trembling soul who feels the need of the security that has been denied him this last eight years, every small business man who yearns for the certainty of protection by the government he pays taxes to, each woman who has had to count her pennies in dread of what the next day might bring forth, vote for Wendell Willkie for President.

And let every voter who loves his home also work to elect a body of Republicans to other offices, so that our next President may have the support of men who think as he does and who will not study to ham-string him in his efforts to bring back happiness, security, prosperity and liberty to our United States.

Nevada City Float Entry Takes Prize In Capital Parade

The Nevada City Hydraulic Parlor Native Sons of the Golden West float won second prize in the Admission Day parade in Sacramento on Monday.

Nevada City's outstanding float entry was applauded from the start to the finish of the three mile long parade, which was witnessed by approximately 50,000 persons.

Elza Kilroy represented George Washington on the float and R. L. Bigelow portrayed Uncle Sam. The float was the same which received acclaim in Nevada City's Fourth of July parade.

The taking of second pride by the local float entry is considered remarkable inasmuch as floats were entered in the parade by many parlors in the larger cities. Stockton's float won the first prize.

ROLLING AUTO PINS OWNER TO TREE, KILLS HIM

Other Accidents Cause Injuries To Six; Results In Arrest of One

Frank Remitz, 55, Nevada County miner, was found dead, pinned between the side of his car and a tree trunk, in Boston Ravine in Grass Valley late Monday night.

Coroner A. M. Holmes, who conducted an investigation, believes Remitz attempted to start his car by rolling it down hill and the machine got out of control and pinned the victim tightly against the tree. Seven men worked to extricate the body. Death was due to a broken neck and other injuries.

The investigating officers said the brakes of the car were off and the ignition key was on.

The body was found by Hugh White, who was in the habit of visiting with Remitz each night. The body of Remitz is at the Holmes Funeral Home in Grass Valley.

Other Accidents

Besides the death of Remitz, automobile accidents caused injury to six Grass Valley persons this week. Mrs. Lorraine Sahl suffered severe facial lacerations when a machine operated by Carl Sahl, Jr., her husband, was struck by a car in which Charles Bowman and Oliver Ghrist, Bridgeport sniper, were riding. Sahl, Bowman and Ghrist as well as Elton Williams, an occupant of the Sahl automobile, sustained minor injuries. Bowman, operator of the other car, was charged with drunken driving in a complaint signed in the justice court in Grass Valley by Sahl.

Arthur Yarborough of Nevada City, who was walking along the highway in Hills Flat at the time of the accident, was injured when the Sahl car, sent out of control when struck by Bowman's automobile, crashed into him.

THREE MEN GIVEN SENTENCES ON GOLD SELLING CHARGES

Numerous jail and penitentiary sentences were meted out by Federal Judge Martin I. Welsh to three men who pleaded guilty of conspiring to defraud the government in connection with the theft of gold.

Lloyd E. Brakey of Grass Valley was sentenced to eighteen months in a penitentiary, the term to run concurrently with another he is to serve for a similar offense in Nevada. Alva D. Moffit of Hammonton and Walter B. Pierce of Nevada City were sentenced to six months in jail each and were placed on probation for three years.

The trial of Emmett M. Costello of Nevada City, whom the agents charged with having filed false affidavits in an attempt to sell the gold to the United States Mint, is to be held in October. Costello pleaded not guilty.

Fratricide Trial Opens Next Week

Venire Of 40 Summoned For Jury Duty In Wear Murder Case

A venire of 40 has been summoned for jury duty in the murder trial of Robert Wear, 56, which opens in the superior court before Judge George L. Jones on Tuesday. Wear is accused of the murder of his brother, Jerry, 62.

District Attorney Vernon Stoll is completing the gathering of evidence which he will use in the prosecution of Wear on the fratricide. The defendant will be represented by Attorney Harry McKee of this city.

The prosecution's principal witness is expected to be Mrs. Julia Irene Markham of Grass Valley, who testified at the coroner's inquest and at Wear's preliminary hearing that she saw the defendant strike his brother on the head with a jug during an argument. She said the blow was struck after Jerry exclaimed:

"If I'm accused of telling things I'm going to tell them."

Jerry died on June 30th, 15 days after he was taken to the county hospital here supposedly for acute alcoholism. It was not until after his death that hospital attendants or the authorities had any suspicion of foul play.

First evidence of the possibility of murder came when Mrs. Markham told her story to a hospital attendant. The body of Jerry was exhumed and an autopsy revealed his death was caused by a fractured skull and not acute alcoholism.

The developments in the case resulted in the arrest of Robert and the signing of the murder complaint against him by Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen.

Robert was bound over to the superior court to stand trial on the charge at his preliminary hearing. The coroner's jury found Jerry succumbed as "a result of a fractured skull on or about June 10, caused by a blow."

Venire Summoned

The forty summoned for jury duty in the case are:

ARRAIGNMENTS WILL BE HELD

Two arraignments will be held in the court of Superior Judge George L. Jones here tomorrow morning.

Frank Silva, charged with the rape of a 13 year old child who has borne a child, and Charles Czoberek, accused of attempting to rape an 18 year old Nevada City girl, will enter their pleas.

Steve Czoberek, brother of Charles will have his preliminary hearing tomorrow on a charge of rape. Steve is accused of raping the girl after his brother was unsuccessful in his advances. Justice of the Peace Charles Morehouse will preside for George Gildersleeve, who is ill, in the matter.

Labor's Real Enemy

The United States, during the past decade, has gone through a period of privation and travail, of unemployment and insecurity, that left millions of citnzens embittered and distrustful. When unemployed workers were told that the "employing class" was responsible for their difficulties—and were told that "capital is the enemy of labor" — many, in their bitterness, agreed with the agitators who addressed them. But gradually, some of the actual causes of America's industrial disaster are coming to light. The jobless workman, who finds that his "boss" has gone broke—and is also jobless—is likely to wonder whether his employer was actually his enemy or whether both are victims of the same situation.

Highly significant, in this regard, are the following facts which have been dug out by research experts. seeking to learn the actual causes of the depression. In 1916, the net income of corporations in the United States was 9.1 billions. From this income, taxes to the extent of 1.2 billions were taken. or 12.87 per cent. Contrasted with this, in 1939 corporations had a net income of 6.4 billions. And from this, taxes took 4.4 billions. or 68.75 per cent!

When the economists and historians finally write the real story of the depression, it will be an illuminating document. When the facts are known, it will probably turn out that rapacious political officeholders, who spent the nation's income in riotous experimentation — and taxed the jobs and businesses of millions out of existence—were the real "enemies" of labor and employer alike. For when more than 68 per cent of industry's net income must go to pay taxes, it all too apparent why jobs were abolished; why factories, instead of expending, ran on half-shifts without capital either to operate or make improvements.

The great Thomas Jefferson warned that a wise and frugal government should restrain men from injuring one another, but should "leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement and not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned." Perhaps the United States, having learned its lesson by suffering will finally make its public officials abide by that dictum.—Contributed.

Conscription-Russian Style

Communist organizers in America obviously are under orders to foment all possible agitation against compulsory military service. Working among the young and impressionable, Moscow's agitators plant the thought that capitalistic greed is forcing the oppressed masses to take up arms. If it weren't for "corporate interests" and "entrenched wealth" the propaganda goes, there could be no such thing as conscription.

We wonder what those who have swallowed that bait thought when they read last week's brief news that in Soviet Russia youths of 18, 19 and 20 have been "called" to swell the already enormous standing Red Army. There will be no news of arguments in Soviet legislative bodies over that conscription decree; no news of protest meetings of students on college campuses. The boys will answer the call, in silence and subjection. Any and all objectors will be disposed of by firing squad.

We can't help but wonder what the Communists and "parlor pinks", crying out rebelliously against compulsory military service ordained by democratic process and after free debate, think of conscription, Russian style? Or do they think?—Contributed.

RANGE SURVEY IN PROGRESS ON TAHOE NATIONAL FOREST

District forest ranger, F. A. Land, at Sierraville will know how many cattle and sheep he can give room and board to on the Sierraville district of the Tahoe National Forest when the range survey, now in progress, is completed in the very near future. The survey is being made by a party of five in charge of Elmo Brough, a technically trained forester, and under the general direction of the Adelbert Faussett, in charge of range surveys for the California region of the forest service. Upon completion of the Sierraville district, the party will move to the Truckee district administered by Ranger H. I. Snider and will work until the storms necessitates closing down.

On both private and government land, within the district, the different types of browse and grass land are platted and classified as to palatibility and carrying capacity. Brough has been using the aerial photo prints resulting from the aerial survey made over the Tahoe last summer and typing material directly on the print. This has saved considerable field work, he states, over the old method of typing on blank maps. Data are computed by sections and an overlay shows data complete for each private owner's land and for each forest grazing allotment. The overlay also shows location of salt logs, springs and fences.

Will Stabilize Grazing

Land and associate forester, L. S. Smith, from the Nevada City office of the Tahoe, have been cooperating with Brough in using the survey data and working up a range management plan for the district. This plan is designed principally to establish the proper season of use for each range, carrying capacity, proper class of stock, range improvements needed and any improvements needed in distribution of stock and method of handling. Their investigations thus far have shown portions of some ranges to be badly overgrazed while other portions of the same range have had little use at all.

Smith states that, in general, the range is in good condition and that there has been more forage this year than for any year since he first came to the Tahoe 15 years ago and states that comments by stockmen substantiate his opinion. The stock in general have been in fine shape and the lambs have weighed more than any other previous year and have been shipped to market earlier. No cattle sales have yet been made on the district but they are in fine shape. The district, at present, supports according to Smith, a total of 2200 head of cattle and 23,000 sheep.

THESE ARE MY JEWELS

JUST WONDERIN'

I Wonder if Paul Bunyan
Is in our midst today,
Performing tasks which, "can't be done,"
In his accustomed way.
I think I see him stalking
Across the mountains now
The light of purpose in his eyes
And ruffles on his brow.

I wonder if Paul Bunyan is tramping through the land today, solving intricate problems and accomplishing impossible tasks with all the vim and vigor with which he was accredited by the lumberjacks in the Main woods long years ago.

I really do believe that Paul is lending a hand to many projects unfolding about us. There is the Shasta dam designed to benefit the vast central valleys of California, and the Narrows dam, behind which debris will be stored when the gravel mines begin to roar and roar again.

And who, I ask you, but Paul Bunyan could shunt lumber up to the very top of Sierra Buttes and build a ranger's station upon the highest pinnacle? Yes Paul must be busy in our midst and the evidences of his presence grow plainer day by day.

"Nonsense?" You say! I don't think so. Paul Bunyan is not merely a myth, he is more than a grotesque legend of the great north woods; Paul Bunyan represents the indomitable, unconquerable and irresistible will to do, which has animated our pioneers ever since that vast army of American ancestors disembarked from the Mayflower and set foot upon the Rock of Plymouth.

So when you are confronted by an unsurmountable obstacle, or faced by a job that "can't be done," say to yourself, "Paul Bunyan wouldn't be stumped by this situation;" and Paul will come hurrying to your assistance; for he is the undaunted pioneer spirit, whilch lies—sometimes latent in the minds and hearts of all courageous Americans.

I Wonder if Nero really did fiddle while Rome burned. The truth about that old affair is of no consequence now; but please tell me—is Congress fiddling while the world is in flames?

I Wonder if much of the aversion to conscription is the result of wishful thinking. Our way of living is in peril—no one denies that tragic fact, and if war comes to America it will come with all the force and ruthless efficiency which totalitarian powers has spent long years in developing. Would we dare to meet that sort of warfare with unseasoned recruits? Wouldn't it be suicide to do so? If war does come to America. a year of military training with its resultant increase in physical stamina and mental alertness would harm no one.

Uncle Silas says: "That fist fight indulged in by two U. S. Senators was a waste of energy; what those boys need is something that will open their eyes instead of closing them."

OFFER ACCEPTED

The Butte County Board of Supervisors has accepted the offer of the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation of $5,000 in settlement of the county's claim for half the cost of constructing a road between Enterprise and the company's Midas Mine near Forbestown. The Midas has been closed down for two years.

'MARYLAND' TO OPEN SUNDAY

"Maryland," Darryl F. Zanuck's latest production for 20th Century-Fox, which is filmed in technicolor and studded with academy award winners, is even greater than "Kentucky."

This was the unanimous opinion of all those who have seen the picure which opens Sunday night at the Nevada Theatre.

Three leading members of the cast —Walter Brennan, Fay Bainter and Hattie McDaniel—have been awarded "Oscars." In addition, five members of the production staff were honored.

The background is beautiful and authentic because much of "Maryland" was filmed on location just outside of Baltimore, where the annual world-famed Maryland Hunt Cup race is held. The film captures all the impressive tradition and color of a proud state and is thrillingly climaxed by America's most spectacular Steeplechase.

FRANK FINNEGAN NAMED CHAIRMAN BY DEMOCRATS

Frank G. Finnegan of this city was reelected chairman of the Nevada County Democratic Central Committee at a meeting held in the supervisor's room at the courthouse last night. William Cassettari was named vice president; John L. Frank, secretary and John J. Looser treasurer.

The gathering was adjourned in memory of the late S. Lee Leiter, who for many years was a member of the Democratic Central Committee.

Those present at the meeting last night were Walter Hawkins and Frank Finnegan of Nevada City. William Cassettari, John J. Looser, John Frank, Lorin Lane and William Sampson of Grass Valley and Frank Titus of Truckee.

The next meeting of the committee will be on October 2nd.

deed, this is precisely what is being done in Mexico today. To reelect a President, three teimes running is equivalent to giving him federal power to perpetuate himself in office or to name his chosen general admiral, judge or cabinet officer, to carry on, when the President decides to quit.

If anyone pleads that this cannot happen in the United States, we answer it has happened so often in South and Central American republics that dictatorships are now the normal condition of most of them. The conditions there were conditions created originally by a strong man who subsidized groups of his fellow cohntrymen, made them dependent upon government largess in one form or another, and then put to work to maintain their special government benefactions and along with them their benefactors in office.

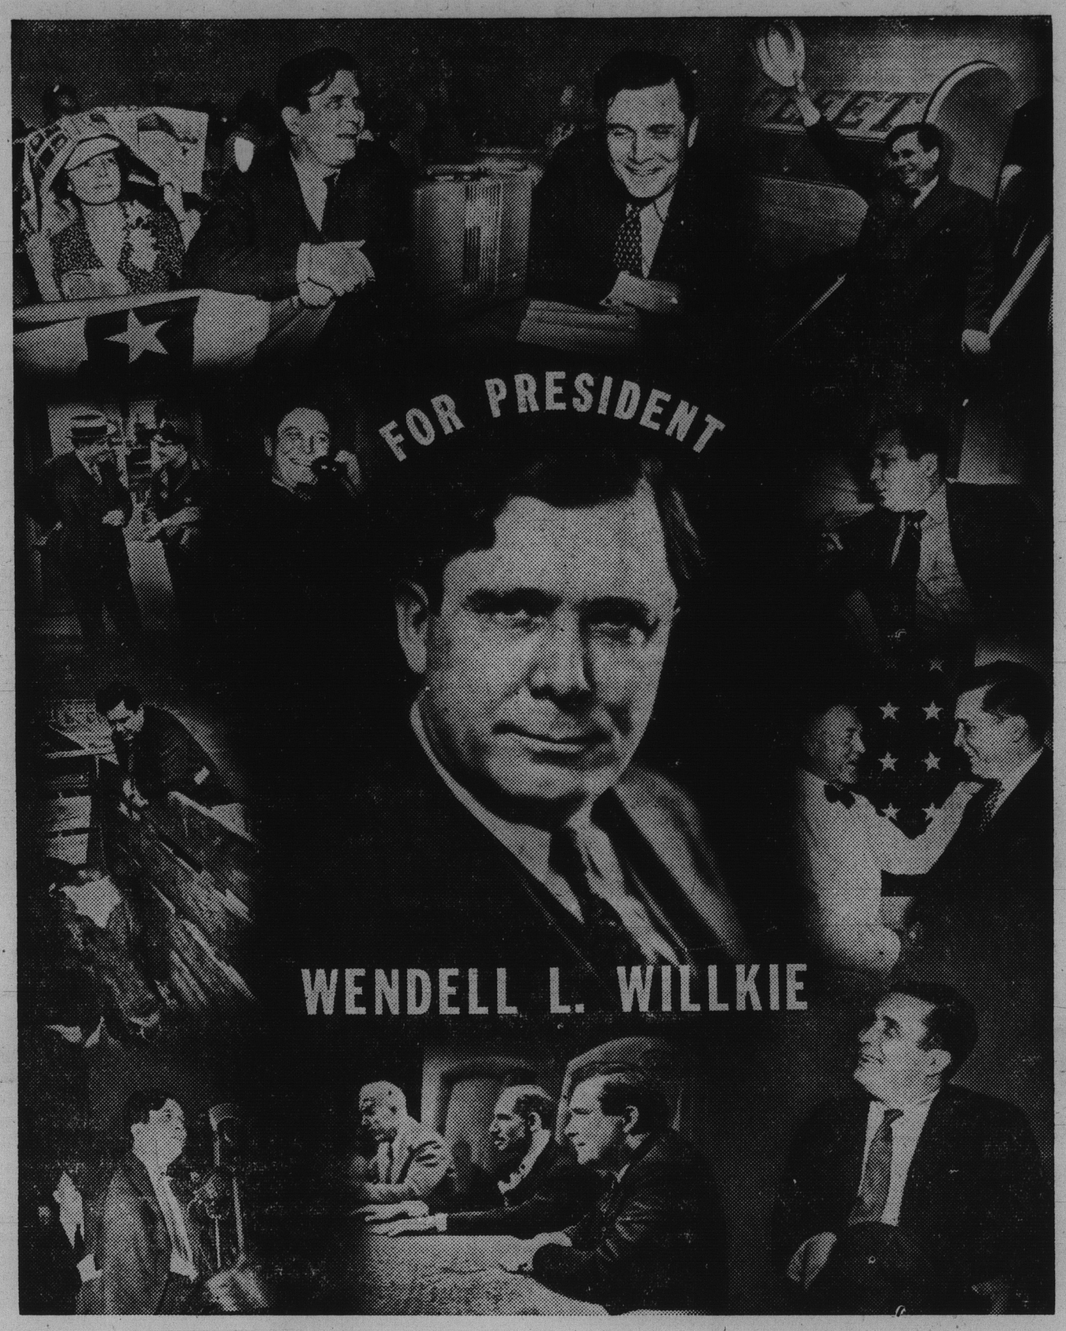
WENDELL WILLKIE MAN OF ACTION

Republican Candidate for President, Like Thomas Jefferson, Has Wide Interests.



In the two and one-half months since his unprecedented and spectacular nomination for the Presidency, by the Republican National Convention, Wendell Willkie has demonstrated to the country his dynamic personality and driving energy as well as his quick and clear mind.

Few men have ever been nominated for the Presidency who have as wide and universal an interest in many fields of endeavor as Wendell Willkie. In that respect he has been compared to Thomas Jefferson who was as well versed in architecture as he was in the law—knew as much about farming as he did about political philosophy.

Born 48 years ago in the small town of Elwood, Indiana, Wendell Willkie was educated for the law. But before he received his degree in that profession, he taught history in the high school at Coffeyville, Kansas; drove a bakery wagon; worked as a barker for a tent hotel in Aberdeen, South Dakota, as a field hand in harvesting wheat in Oklahoma and as a laborer in California. He has labored in steel mills and sugar fields.

Once embarked on the practice of law, Wendell Willkie defended labor unions with his father; enlisted in the army the day this country declared war on Germany in 1917; became a lawyer for a rubber company; and finally went to New York, first as counsel for Commonwealth and Southern Corporation and then, when the sick company needed resuscitation, as its president. Even critical New Dealers always have paid tribute to Willkie's candor, honesty and ability.

Nurtured in a home filled with books, Wendell Willkie throughout his life has been a constant reader of books—all kinds of books. He reads rapidly and, with a photographic-like mind, retains what he has read. He demonstrated his rich background of information on the "Information Please" programs on the air and in motion pictures. He is a qualified authority on English Constitutional history and writes much better than many professional writers. Had he not been a great lawyer, he would have been an outstanding newspaperman.

Though Willkie has sat among the great and learned, he has never lost his touch with his Indiana origin. Though he likes books, he likes people more. He is as much at home in conversation with a truck driver or farm laborer as he is with an industrial tycoon or college President. Typical of the man is the fact that his faith in American agriculture is so great that he placed the savings from his salary in Indiana farm land. Operating these farms on a 50-50 basis with tenants, Willkie now knows as much about farming as he does about law.

Indeed, like the Roman of old, Willkie might say "nothing human is foreign to me." But that thought would never occur to Willkie because he believes that when a man commences to compare himself to a Cicero or Napoleon, people had better look out for him.

FUNERAL TODAY FOR PROMINENT SIERRA CITIZEN

Final rites for Thomas P. Fleming 73, one of the most prominently known residents of Alleghany, were held at the family home there this afternoon. Interment was in the Alleghany cemetery under the direction of the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary of Grass Valley.

The Masonic lodge, of which Fleming was a member, conducted the funeral services. The deceased, a native of Canada, resided in Alleghany for 33 years and during that time became widely acquainted in Sierra County as well as Nevada County. He was a carpenter by occupation.

L. G. Lageson Returns—

County Agricultural Commissioner L. G. Lageson, who with W. W. Esterly of Grass Valley had charge of the Nevada County booth at the state fair, returned to his home here Tuesday night.

"One Nation, Indivisible"

They look different—the different parts of this country. The elm-shaded streets of old New England towns are not at all like the wind-blown streets of prairie villages. The square white houses topped with "captain's walks" of seaport settlements have an atmosphere about them that is altogether lacking in the new stucco houses of the Southwest.

But underneath and through it all is something stronger than these differences; something more potent than the fascinating variety. And that is—the sameness!

Everywhere you go, from Maine to California, we are, first and foremost and above all, Americans. We are nourished by the same traditions—stirred by the same impulses—inspired by the same ideals and, to be mundane and practical, served by the same producers.

A 10-cent store on the street of a town built by sea-faring Yankees in the 18th century even smells the same as a 10-cent store on the street of a western oil town that sprang up a dozen years ago. Looking at the familiar displays in a drugstore window you feel yourself "at home" no matter where you are at what part of the country you hail from.

Monotonous? Stereotyped? Maybe. There might be more color to the American scene if there were great sectional differences and regional cultures. But there would not be the strength, the similarity of outlook and the possibility for national unity such as the world has never known, without this national uniformity.

If the good people of Connecticut ate a breakfast food the good people of Nebraska had never heard of—if the movie stars of Hollywood had a face cream unknown to the ladies of New York—and if the people of South Carolina drove cars strange to Michigan, this country couldn't be what it is today and will be tomorrow.

Eating the same foods, using the same face powder, wearing the same clothes, using the same styles of vacuum cleaners, driving the same cars, gives us an understanding of each other that has nothing to do with distance or climate or historical background.

So it is our manufacturers, as well as our writers and statesmen and educators that make us one people. For by producing goods for Americans as a whole and by a unique system of distribution they are able to sell them in every city, town and village throughout this far-flung land.

Thus are we united by our everyday habits of living, as well as by our ideals of Liberty!

BEAR TAKES GARBAGE; FAILS TO DISTURB FOOD SUPPLY

Tahoe Road Foreman, L. L. Land wonders if he has discovered an honest bear. Land is camped with a crew in French Meadows on flood repair work and this particular bear has solved their garbage disposal problem to a large extent but has not as yet disturbed the camp supply of food. This has been contrary to the experience of other camps, Land says, that have had to be constantly on the alert to keep from having their food supplies broken into and stolen. Only once did the bear venture past the garbage can and he was promptly run out of camp and scampered up a pine trree. Evidently objecting to this indignity he proceeded to knock off dead limbs in the direction of his pursuers. The men playfully pelted him with small pebbles upon which he would whine and groan in protest.

Land says that the boys have been referring to the bear as 'he" but, upon recently finding near camp a large bear track with the tiniest cub track he had ever seen with it, they wondered if it is not realy a mama bear that hides her blessed event out in the brush before coming into camp for her daily meal.

LIONS KILLED IN 7 MONTHS 135

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9.—(UP)—During the month of July, lion hunters succeeded in bagging a total of 19 lion and predatory animal trappers, 369 wildcats and coyotes and 11 other predators, the department of natural resources announced today. Following is the lion kill by the counties:

Trinity 8; Santa Barbara 4; Tulare and Los Angeles 2 each, and Shasta and San Bernardino, one each. Total kill for the first seven months of the year was 135, which is 25 less than the average for the preceding ten years.

BOWMAN LAKE ROAD SPEEDED BY DONATION

Betterment work on the Bear Valley-Bowman Lake road can be speeded up, according to Forest Supervisor Guerdon Ellis, on account of a contribution of $1000 just received from the supervisors of Nevada County toward the project. A WPA project under the technical supervision of G. E. Mitchell, Tahoe Forest engineer, much greater accomplishment has been made possible, according to Ellis, by generous contributions from the supervisors of Nevada and Placer County and from the Nevada Irrigation district, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, Grass Valley Rod and Gun Club and Grass Valley Sportsmens Club. Several compliments have been received, Ellis says, on the improvement of the "Devils Grade" leading out of Bear Valley toward the lake. Engineer Mitchell was fortunate in finding some native surfacing material that promises to give a permanent surface to the road. The material was first spread on the road and then sprinkled and Mitchell says this process hardened it so that it was necessary to scarify it before it could be graded.

STATE REPUBLICAN COMMITTEEMEN NAMED

James C. Tyrrell and Mrs. Ray Pengelley of Grass Valley were this week appointed members of the Republican State Central Committee, by the legislative representatives representing this district. Tyrrell was appointed by Assemblyman Thurman and Mrs. Pengelley was appointed by Senator Seawell.

Other appointments made by Seawell were Ed White of Loyalton and Mrs. Walter Jansen of Lincoln. Thurman's other two appointees were Mrs. George Savage of Inyo County and Mrs. Lorene Roberts of Placerville.

The state committees of the major parties will meet in Sacramento on September 19 and 20.

POLITICAL PARADE

BY CLEM WHITAKER

Speaker Gordon Garland of the Assembly, who headed Governor Olson's "purge" list—but romped home an easy winner at the primary election—is a heavy odds favorite to win a second term as presiding officer of the House when the State Legislature convenes for its 1941 session in January.

But the Olson forces, according to gossip along the political Rialto, are still out after his scalp!

Reports are current that the governor's men, in an effort to unseat the Tulare County assemblyman, are passing the word around that Olson minority in the Assembly might be induced to back a Republican for Speaker—if the boys would agree to dump Mr. Garland.

Several Republican leaders who have had speakership ambitions in the past have been broached on the subject, but none has been receptive, as they suspect a plot to break up the bi-partisan (Republican and Democratic) Economy Bloc by an injection of partisan politics.

Mr. Garland, a Democrat, was elected Speaker by a coalition of Democrats and Republicans, who opposed Governor Olson's spending and tax policies. And despite all the monkey-business, there's every indication that he will be re-elected in January by the same group.

The special session of the Legislature, which will probably convene about September 18 to meet a shortage in relief funds, will be either a one-day, or two-day session, it is indicated.

An amount of $1,500,000 is said to have been agreed upon by both the SRA and the auditing sub-committee of the joint legislative committee on relief to meet the emergency.

The legislators, however, will probably stay on in Sacramento for the state conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties—and also for the scheduled appearance of Wendell Willkie, the G. O. P. presidential nominee.

And strangely enough, there are just as mnay Democratic legislators planning to stay over for Willkie's appearance, as Republican. The boys in politics just can't stay away from a political meeting of the opposition.

DEER PLAGUE CAMPTONVILLE

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 12.—Judge A. M. Cleveland was somewhat surprised Monday evening to find that he had a spike buck deer grazing in his front yard near one of his fish ponds. Myron Pauly was coming in the front gate and came upon the animal which lightly trotted away through the upper part of the yard. The animal must have thought that he would be safe in the yard of John Law.

Deer are plentiful here this year to the extent that they are a nuisance. W. C. Williams, local high school teacher, who lives a few doors up the street, has a yard full of them every night and they are very destructive to his garden. In fact, they have eaten up all the cabbages in his patch, and the strawberry plants. He has appealed to the law for relief. They also visited S. Price's garden and enjoy his string beans.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 12.—M. G. Calvin, better known as Glent, a pioneer resident and old time stage driver of this section celebrated his 74th birthday Friday at his home on Main Street. Bishop, Jack Bishop, Darlene Bishop, and Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Calvin.

THOUSANDS WILL SWARM HILLS IN QUEST OF ELUSIVE DEER MONDAY

Prospects Are Good For Bagging Bucks In This District; Much Credit Given Hiscox and Ledshaw For Deer Plentifulness

The most important event of the year—as far as sportsmen are concerned—takes place Monday at the crack of dawn. It signalizes the opening of deer season.

And say the local hunters aren't excited! Indications point to a good season and there will be much rivalry to see who can bring in the first buck.

In preparation for the opening, many hunters will leave for the mountains during the weekend to set up camp for several days and even weeks of hunting.

Thousands Of Hunters

As usual, thousands of hunters are expected to swarm the hills and the mountains of Nevada and Sierra Counties. Many will be disappointed but probably an equal number will have their hearts gladdened by the thrill of pulling down a fleet buck.

There will be no especially choice spots for hunting as the deer, preliminary surveys show, are plentiful in the highest areas as well as in the lower districts, including Rough and Ready, Dew Drop and Forest Springs.

Hiscox Given Credit

Game Warden Earl Hiscox is given much credit for the plentifulness of the deer in Nevada County. Through his tireless efforts, sportsmen aver, illegal deer killing in the county has been cut down to a minimum.

State Lion Hunter Charles Ledshaw's activities in this district has resulted practically in the extinction of mountain lions, which annually can account for as high as 100 deer each.

So the prospects for the deer hunters are excellent but don't forget to call your shots. Remember there will be thousands of men combing the hills. Accidents easily happen. It is better to make sure you're really shooting at a deer than to spend the remainder of your life in regret.

DEER HUNTERS SIGN FIRE PLEDGE AGAIN

Deer hunters are signing the pledge again this season, according to Tahoe forest officials. Owing to the extremely hazardous conditions at the opening of last year's season, there was considerable thought given by forest service officials to closing the forest to hunting to prevent possible loss of national resources by fire. Sportsmen's organizations were consulted and as a result the hunters in general pledged themselves to become voluntary fire prevention officers and to exerecise extreme precautions with fire. E. L. Baxter, in charge of fire control for the Tahoe, notes that there were only two man contracted fires as against an average of twelve annually in previous years. This, in spite of the additional hazard existing, showed that the hunters kept their pledge.

Baxter reports that although a recent light rain remedied conditions some, the prospect of drying winds and resulting dry fuel moisture during the season is likely to produce conditions even more unfavorable than the past season. For this reason, hunters are again being asked to align themselves actively on the side of conservation while pursuing the wary buck. Pledge cards are securable at camp fire permit agencies and at most of the places where the hunting licenses are sold, Baxter says.

LOCAL GRIDIRON SEASON WILL OPEN SATURDAY ON NEW TURF

The gridiron season will open here Saturday afternoon at 2:15, with the Nevada City Yellowjackets tangling with the alumni of the local high school.

Considerable enthusiasm is being shown for the game and the high school band will be there to liven things up. The game will be on the new turf, considered one of the finest football fields for high schools in California.

Coach Ed Frantz of the Yellowjacket squad has been holding strenuous workouts this week in preparation for the battle. Frantz will start Kirk Martin at one of the end posts with either Bill Jamerson or Joe Widauf at the other end spot. In the line will be Ken Worthley, Bob Farmer, Allen Spracklen as tackles, Harry Roberts, Craig Davies or Marvin Haddy as guards.

In the backfield the probable starting lineup will be Bill Muscardini, Allen Spracklen, George Phillips and Ronald Joyal. Spracklen will play the fullback position on offense and the tackle spot on defense. When on defense Floyd Ruth will hold down the fullback berth. Norman Rornigen is in condition and will be used as a relief backfield man.

The alumni lineup has not been announced but the team will be composed of eleven huskies. Bob Tamblyn is making arrangements for the alumni squad.

Deer Killed By Autos Reaches 100 Each Year

High speed automobiles have made Game Warden Earl Hiscox expert in caring for venison and has caused that meat to be prominent on the bill of fare at county hospitals and charitable institutions throughout the year. Hiscox estimates that about 120 deer were killed along the local highways by autoists during the past year. He figures that probably 40 per cent are not reported at the time but found afterwards, too late to be of use, but the other 80 per cent are cleaned and turned over to various institutions. Recently six were killed in one night on Highway 20 east of Nevada City, and during July a total of 21 auto-killed deer were cared for by him. Not only does this represent a lamentable destruction of wild life, but figuring at an average of probably $50 damage on each car, it means in the aggregate considerable property damage. Motorists can help in reducing this destruction by not driving at excessive speeds and by being on the alert when passing through wooded areas where deer are likely to be found on the highway.

DOOLITTLE MAY BE J C TACKLE

Placer Junior is trying an interesting experiment this fall which may result in Alex Ostrom of Grass Valley playing fullback instead of center, where he played last year.

Coach Howard Woodside is experimenting with a formation that puts Ostrom in the backfield, and sends Robert Broberg, reserve halfback last year, to the spot in the line vacated by Ostrom.

With Ostrom in the backfield are Bombshell Ed Brennan, all conference halfback last year, Joe Carroll and Irwin Chidester. The latter is the best punter Placer has ever had. He hails from Los Angeles.

HI GETTING READY FOR NIGHT BATTLE

The 1940 football season in Auburn will open the night of September 20th when the Nevada City Yellow Jackets play the Placer Union High School Hillmen at Agriculture Park at 8 p. m. The contest will be played on a freshly grown turf.

Decision to play the game under the lights was made this week by Coach Ed Frantz of Nevada City and Athletic Director Earl Crabbe of Placer.

The B teams of the two schools will tangle in a preliminary game. The B game will start at 6:30 p. m.

Scoop Thurman Trophy For Best Ball Player

The fans of Auburn and the Placer-Nevada League will honor Pat Harley, the Cubs twirler, Sunday when the Pickering Lumberjacks meet the Placer-Nevada League champions on the Auburn diamond in a post season contest.

Prior to the game, the Scoop Thurman trophy, will be presented to Harley, who was selected the most valuable player for 1940 by the writers of the league.

The veteran league secretary, and state assemblyman, each year will present a trophy to the outstanding player selected.

Sunday's game should be a hard fought contest as the Pickering team is the outstanding club of the Mother Lode having won 19 games and losing but four this season. The game will start promptly at 2:30.

Visits Former Home—

Mr. and Mrs. G. S. May of Modesto have been visiting in Nevada City during the week. Mr. May's father, the late George May, formerly owned a livery stable in Lower Broad Street, and also one in Grass Valley. Two Nevada City fires in early days destroyed his barns and stables in this city, resulting each time in a $30,000 loss. George May was for many years a deputy sheriff in Nevada County. G. S. May is now engaged in the transfer and storage business in Modesto.

THE FIREBALL* DOES IT!

Modern gasolines have high octane ratings to permit higher compressions without "ping." Note how this piston, which can be used only in valve-in-head engines, rolls the fuel charge into the shape of a flattened ball that centers around the new, smaller, racing-car type spark plug. Fired at its very heart, this more highly compressed fuel lets go with such full-forced, "ping-free" wallop that any gasoline of 75 octane rating (now available at standard-fuel prices) may be used in the 115-hp. engine. Any fuel of 80 octane rating serves in the 125- and 165-hp. engines.

*According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, a super meteor which travels with a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great projectile is called a "FIREBALL."

Farewell Party Tendered Camp Official and Wife

Tahoe forest officials E. L. Baxter, G. E. Mitchell and C. M. Gwin, attended the farewell banquet given Tuesday night at the Forest Hill CCC camp in honor of Lieut. and Mrs. E. E. Galvan who left the next day for Sacramento, where Galvan assumes his duties as assistant district quartermaster for the Sacramento District, Civilian Conesrvation Corps. Lieut. Clay Gearhart who has served as junior officer under Galvan the past year, will assume command of the camp. Besides some 200 enrollees of the camp, District Ranger C. [illegible]sley and family and forest service camp personnel enjoyed a delicious dinner prepared by enrollees under the supervision of Chef Ed Newman.

Project Superintendent L. G. Johnson who has been associated with Galvan for the past two years, acted as toastmaster. Galvan made an inspiring address to enrollees and also spoke of the pleasant relations that had existed between the technical service personnel and him. Touching evidence of affection on the part of the enrollees was the presentation by them to Mr. and Mrs. Galvan of a beautiful radio. An electric percolator was presented on behalf of the forest service personnel.

Galvan has been with the corps ever since its beginning. He has been in charge of the Forest Hill camp during the past three years, according to forest officers, and has made an enviable record in company administration. In cooperation with forest officials, the camp has done outstanding conservation work. During the past two years, reforestation work has been carried on in the area burned over by the disastrous 1936 fire, and construction work has been carried on on the Mosquito Ridge truck trail designed to tap the vast reservoir of marketable virgin pine timber in the Ed Dorado and Tahoe forests.
